

PRESCRIPTION APPROVAL SYSTEM AND METHOD

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

5 A network-based system and method for reviewing and approving or declining orders, particularly for prescription drugs includes a server and an associated memory accessible over the network. Doctors access the server to review customer order requests and medical histories. If the prescription is warranted based on the customer medical condition, the doctor approves the order for further processing and delivery.